The screenshot displays the Innventia Information Centre website. At the top, there is a navigation menu with links for Search, Browse, Add, Configure, My Account, Reports, Upload, Quick Links, Patent, Kemi och medicin, and PiraBase. A search bar is located in the top right corner. Below the navigation, the main content area is divided into several sections:

- Quick search: A search input field with a magnifying glass icon and a link to the search page.
- Innventia's databases: A section describing the Reports database (research reports and publications from Innventia and previous reports from 1937 until today), the Catalogue (database with the library's collection of books, conference proceedings, and theses), and Paperbase (a clearly focused database produced using expertise from the leading pulp and paper institutes in Europe).
- Find the information you need: A section explaining that there are two options when performing a literature search: using the "Quick search" boxes on the left or using the "Search" in the top menu to choose a specific database.
- Latest reports and publications from Innventia: A list of recent reports, including "Development of lignin carbon fibers: evaluation of the carbonization process" and "Method for accurate fiber length determination from increment cores for large-scale population analyses in Norway spruce".
- New titles in the library: A list of new titles, including "Chemical and biochemical biorefineries in kraft pulp mills - process integration and economics for three concepts (Doctoral thesis)" and "Three-dimensional structure of wood: an ultrastructural approach".

On the right side of the page, there is a "Contact your library" section with contact information for Innventia, including an email address, phone number, and address. Below this, there is a "Partner Organisations" section featuring logos for Innventia and CTP. At the bottom right, there is a "Paperbase facts" section stating that there are more than 260,000 records of the latest technical, research and business information, with international coverage since 1975 and updated weekly.
